LONDON, (Sunday) March 29.

A meeting of the Cabinet Ministers was held yesterday on the subject of the communication which has lately taken place between our government and France, through the medium of M. Otto, on the subject of negotiation. We believe our new rulers to be actuated with a sincere and ardent desire for peace on terms consistent with the honour and interests of the nation, and we are persuaded that the enemy is not less anxious to terminate a war on the successful prosecution of which his means are so inadequate; yet with this impression, and a further opinion that negotiation will be shortly instituted, we regard the question of peace to depend upon the issue of our Northern and Egyptian expeditions.

Our funds have during the week, risen about two per cent, on the rumour of adjutment, and were yesterday a fraction better than on Friday. Lord St. Helena, it is stated, is to be employed on the occasion.

By a messenger who left Constantinople several days subsequent to the courier charged with the ordinary correspondence of that capital, we are possessed of a letter to the 16th of February: the latest accounts which have been received from Syria were dated the 26th of the preceding month. The Tiger and other of his majesty's ships had at that period joined Lord Keith at Marmorilla, and the whole expedition in perfect health, full of confidence and spirits, and with the most abundant supplies of every thing requisite to the enterprise, were on the eve of their departure for Egypt.

Our fleet comprised one hundred and nine ships independent of small craft, which were to be employed in landing the troops.

Constantinople, on the 16th, was very sickly; great numbers of the inhabitants had died of an epidemic disorder, and most of the English residents had been affected by it.

According to the statements in the Monitor, of the 24th inst. which we received yesterday, the expedition had not approached the coast on the 4th ult. at this period, however, two French frigates, La Justice, and L'Egyptienne, having on board 15,000 mulets, a supply of ammunition, and 500 men, one hundred of whom were engineers, had entered Alexandria in ten days from Toulon.—It is added that twenty small vessels, with military stores, had likewise arrived in safety. Menou, in his dispatches to the chief consul, which he sent by citizen Costa and Decocotlis, in the St. Philip corvette, and who landed at Trejus on the 16th, speaks in confident terms of his means to resist the menaced attack of the British and Turkish armies.

From the prevalence of well and fourth west winds, the admiralty remains without advice of the Baltic fleet since its entering the Cattegat on the 17th.

Of Gantheume's squadron nothing is known since the 10th ult. Apprehension is the general attendant on uncertainty, and the principle, we hope, will be admitted in apology for our fears, that he will effect the object of his enterprise.

We some time since announced that the Algerine minister at our court had made to government assurances of the most cordial attachment of his master to this country; several of our public prints, however, adopting the mis-statements of the Parisian Journals have talked of a republican army embarking at Algiers, assisted by that government, and marching from thence to reinforce their army in Egypt, &c. The fact is diametrically the reverse, and Algiers, instead of favouring the views of France on Egypt, is in declared hostility with the republic, and is anxious to contribute to their expulsion from Africa.

The Algerine ambassador some days since notified to the ministers the receipt of intelligence from his court, that the French envoy who has lately resided at Algiers, and where, with a view to introduce the friendship of the Dey towards France, and to excite him to hostility against England, he has expended immense sums of money, has been dismissed, and ordered to inform the French government, that preliminary to any negotiation they might offer to the Algerine state, must be the evacuation of Egypt by her troops:—upon this condition Algiers had consented to four months armistice, which has been prolonged under an opinion that this stipulation would be complied with, and upon this condition alone would the listen to an overture for the re-establishment of peace. We have the further pleasure to state, that on Thursday last, the ambassador, who likewise holds the distinguished station of high Admiral of Algiers, officially, communicated to Ministers, that the Dey in testimony of his friendship to his Britannic Majesty, had ordered that a Knight of Malta, and 263 Maltese, who had been captured by his cruisers previous to the reduction of la Valette by the British, and fold into slavery, should be liberated with out ransom (which would have amounted to upwards of 100,000), considering their subjects of his majesty, and has directed that whatever supplies of provisions may be wanted by the garrisons of Malta or Minorca, shall be furnished by his States.

The grand jury of Newberry District, in S. By the ship Penman, Mariscal, in 37 days from London, papers to the 3d, of April inclusive, are received, by which we are enabled to lay before our readers the intelligence contained in the succeeding columns.

No event of political importance had occurred in Europe since the date of our former accounts.

He further informs, that an army of 35,000 French had entered Spain by Pamplonia, and were on their march to Badajoz, where they were to be joined by 30 battalions of Spanish infantry, and 20 of horse, who were to repair thither through Galicia; immediately after forming this junction, they were to enter Portugal, and commence the sanguinary trade of war.

PATENT KILN.

THE subscriber, a native born citizen of the commonwealth of Virginia, and residing at Dumfries, having invented a KILN for the purpose of drying Grain, particularly Corn, and for which he has obtained a Patent from the General Government, in disproof of disposing of the privilege of erecting and using the said KILN, to any persons who may apply for the same.

The advantages attending this KILN, he flatters himself, will be found vastly superior to any thing of the kind now in use; it being erected at very inconsiderable expense, and when used by means of manual labour, or by fire, it dries the Grain without injury to the colour, taste or smell of the Flour; and will render it capable of being kept without moulding almost any length of time. From actual experiment, it has been found that one cord of wood is sufficient to dry from 1500 to 2000 bushels of Grain; and those who are engaged in the business of manufacturing Corn Flour, the saving in labour and fuel will be immense, independent of other advantages.

His price for the privilege of using the Patent KILN, accompanied with a drawing and explanatory notes, for a number of years, is as follows: it will be Forty Dollars, for a KILN containing 40 bushels, and one dollar for each bushel a KILN contains above or under that quantity.

Letters addressed to him (post-paid) will be duly attended to.

James Deneale.

November 12, 1800.

Please read the annexed Certificate.

Since James Deneale completed his KILN for drying Grain, and for which he has received a patent right I have got about fifteen hundred barrels of meal manufactured of corn dried therein, which was shipped to Alexandria, Norfolk and New-York, and at these places much approved of, as superior to meal made of corn dried in the mode heretofore common. Neither colour or taste is injured, as no smoke passes through it, or any portion subject to be burned, as in the old mode of drying; the process is so contrived, that every grain receives an equal portion of heat, the work is as effectually done, though little fuel is consumed comparatively with the old system, and much labour is saved. On the whole, I do not think that it requires but a moment to examine one of these "DENEALE'S KILNS" at work, to convince of its being an improvement which must become extensively beneficial to the community. Grain so dried, when taken from the field, and immediately made fit to ship on the longest voyage, in southern climates, it will be more specially and generally useful, as thereby, and at final expense, the fly, or weevil, so troublesome and destructive, may be destroyed in embryo, immediately after harvest.

James Smith.

Dumfries, 7 November, 1800.

Fairfax County, Va:

I do hereby certify that I was (with others) called on by James Deneale, of Dumfries, to inspect his KILN constructed and contrived by him on a new plan, for drying of Indian Corn and other Grain, and after seeing this machine at work, observing the effect it had on the Grain, and viewing the model, I am of opinion that Mr. James Deneale's KILN is constructed on the best plan of any that I have ever yet seen, for the reasons, that the Grain is well and equably dried, without any loss of grain, and leaves other undried; that the Grain dried in this KILN is not smoked, that a much larger quantity may be dried in a given time, and that the fuel and labour necessary, is not one half of what other KILNS require; it is well known to every countryman the great advantage of KILN-drying grain, corn in particular cannot be shipped on long voyages without, and that insect, so destructive called the fly may be destroyed in the grain as it dries. Given under my hand this 4th day of November, 1800.

George Gilpin.

ALEXANDRIA, 4th November, 1800.
To all whom it may concern, I do hereby certify, that I have examined the model of Mr. James Deneale's CORN KILN at Dumfries, and am fully satisfied that it is the best invention that has ever come under my notice for drying of grain, it will not require much fuel, and the work is well done, on the plan formerly in use. Likewise inspected several hundred barrels of meal at this place made from corn dried in said KILN, and find it entirely free from being smoked, which has heretofore injured the meal very much, when the grain was dried on the plan formerly used.

Daniel Douglass.
Flour inspectors.

I, Isaac M'Pherson, of the Occoquan mills, in the county of Prince William, (shire) do hereby certify, that I have worked one of James Deneale's new invented CORN KILNS, and find that I can dry 500 or 600 bushels of corn each day, and better than I ever saw corn dried on any other kind of KILN: I am of opinion that one cord of wood will dry 2000 bushels of grain. I further find, that wheat may be dried immediately when taken from the field, which will be fit for shipping, and prevent the fly, or what is called the weevil from injuring the grain.

Isaac M'Pherson.

November 4, 1800.

I, Glen Moore, Notary Public in and for the district of Alexandria, duly admitted and sworn, do hereby certify, that Daniel Douglass is Inspector of Flour for the Port of Alexandria; and that Isaac M'Pherson is a miller, and has been for some years largely concerned in that business, at the Occoquan mills—that George Gilpin and James Smith are Gentlemen of respectability and reputed scientific abilities. Given under my hand, this 12th day of November, 1800.

FRESH SUPPLY.

MACBEAN & POYZER,
Have juft received from Lee & Co's FAMILY and MEDICINE WARE-HOUSE, Baltimore, a Large Supply of the moft Celebrated

MEDICINES:

Price 1 dollar per packet,
Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have, within two years paff, given relief to upwards of FIFTY THOUFAND PERSONS, of all ages, in various dangerous complaints, arifing from worms and from flatulency or obftruction in the ftomach and bowels.

A peculiar excellence of this remedy is, its being futed to every age and conftitution: contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is fo mild in its operation, that it cannot injure the moft delicate pregnant lady, or the tender infant of a week old, though no worms exit in the body—but will without pain or griping cleanse the ftomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offenfive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal diforders.

Description of Worms, and the fymptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infect the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz. the Tereus or large round worm, the Afcarides, or fmall maw worm, the Cucurbitina, or fhort, flat, white worm, and latfly, the Taenia, or tape worm, to call out their refemblance to tape; this is often many yards long, and is full of joints—it is moft hurtful, and moft difficult to cure.

Among the fymptoms attending worms, are, difagreeable breath, efpecially in the morning—Bad and corrupted gums—Itching in the nofe and about the feat—Convulfions and epileptic fits, and fometimes privation of fpeech—Starting and grinding of the teeth in fleep—Irregular appetite, fometimes loating food, and fometimes voracious—Vomiting, with limy and fœtid stools—Vomiting—Large and hard belies—Pains and ficknefs at the ftomach—Swelling in the head and thighs, with lownefs of fpirits—Slow fever, with fmall and irregular pulfe—A dry cough—Excessive thirft—Sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and fometimes the face bloated and fuffred.

Perfons afflited with any of the above fymptoms, fhould have immediate recourfe to HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, which have been continually attended with fuccefs in all complaints fimilar to thofe above defcribed.

Many other difeafes are daily offered to the public for the cure of this diforder, which, upon trial, have been found either dangerous or ufelefs. The operation of thefe pills is perfectly mild, fo as to be ufed with fafety by perfons in every age, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to every diforder, to reftore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perfpiration, and thereby prevent colds, which are often the confequence of a cold never fully to remove a cold, if taken on its firft appearance.—They are celebrated for removing habitual colicnefs—licknefs at the ftomach, and feverish head-ache—up to the be taken by all perfons on a change of climate.
